Dizzy Daydream

I've spent nearly the whole of my life wondering why I always felt like I was on the outside looking in, and in 2007 I finally decided enough is enough, it was time I took control and found out for myself.

This book covers a bit of my previous life and unfolding journey on which I was lucky enough to find DANDA, who helped me to obtain a diagnosis.

On May the 19th 2008, I finally found out the reason why I am , like I am! And on this day I got not one reason, but three!

Sometimes life is just like waiting for a bus isn't it!

UGS (uncontrollable giggle surges)
